

March 22, 2010

One month ago, on February 22, 2010 I sent my Runway 9/27 defect documentation to Special Agent My Harrison of the FBI's Memphis Bureau. I specifically asked Ms. Harrison to contact me once she had received this documentation so that I could walk through it with one of her agents. All I received was my certified mail receipt back with an illegible signature and no name in the "Received by" box.

After a month with no response I posted the certified mail receipt on my Hurricane Creek Cover-up documentation webpage on March 21, 2010. www.guycobb.com/coverup.htm

24 hours after posting the receipt I received a call from Agent Mike Saltsman with the Memphis Bureau. When I spoke to Agent Saltsman it was clear that he had been given this task of contacting me so quickly that he had not even had an opportunity to read my documentation. He stated that Ms. Harrison had given my "package" (my documentation apparently still in the envelope) to his Supervisor and his Supervisor had passed it on to him to make the call. He stated that when he spoke to his Supervisor that "we could not see any criminal activity" and that someone like the FAA should probably be the ones to investigate. I explained that I would normally agree but that the FAA was working with the Airport Authority and FedEx Express to cover up the defect and that the FAA had never contacted me after having received my documentation from Mike Moon with Federal OSHA.

I told him that Brian Kuhn, the Shelby County Attorney had written me an email explaining that the Airport Authority was working with multiple agencies to take steps to resolve the issue but he would not say who the agencies were. Agent Saltsman said that it sounded like those agencies were the ones who I should work with. I told him that I would agree but the problem again is that the Airport Authority won't identify who they are. As I explained my documentation to him he became more interested primarily because this was the first time for him to be able to read it and discuss it with me in detail; something I had tried to get the agency to do for a month. I could tell every time his Agent's instinct kicked in he started to think about what I was saying but then would fall back to "my Supervisor and I could not see any criminal activity".

I told him that a few days earlier I had seen on the national news where an airport in the US had had all of its terminals closed for 30 minutes after someone found a prescription bottle in an empty wheelchair at the airport. It turned out that the person had simply left it in the chair by accident but that it had caused a major disruption. In comparison I told him that here I am sending every government agency, politician and media source over 100 pages of credible evidence of a problem with our runway and I can't even get any proof of any kind of inspection having taken place going on four months. He said he could understand my frustration.

For the record I believe Agent Saltsman realized during our conversation that he had been set up with this task after someone called Ms. Harrison and requested she respond. This type of behavior within the Bureau was described by FBI Whistleblower Coleen Rowley in her now infamous 13 page memo following September 11th. Read it here:

For his part, Agent Saltsman immediately connected to my cover-up webpage after our conversation and began studying my documentation. Here is my sitemeter activity report:
